Composer Highlight

Max Bruch

Max Bruch was a German composer, teacher, violinist and conductor. He was born Max Christian Friedrich Bruch on January 6, 1838 in Cologne. He grew up in a middle class family in Cologne, where his father, an attorney, eventually became Chief of Police of Cologne.

He began his musical studies in Cologne with the composer and Pianist Ferdinand Hiller. (Interesting side note is that Robert Schumann dedicated his Piano Concert in A to Hiller.) During his early years, he composed several minor pieces, from motets to a full scale orchestra work which was to be a prelude to an operatic idea he had depicting Joan of Arc.

When he began attending university in Bonn, he studied Philosophy and art. These interests were to fall to the way-side in favor of his music career.

Max's first official appointment in music was as Kappellmeister in Koblenz (halfway between Frankfurt and Cologne). Two years later, he became Kappellmeister in Sondershausen (about 168 miles southwest of Berlin). He then traveled to Berlin to work as a Kappellmeister and later relocated to Bonn where he spent a large amount of time composing. His next two appointments were as Music Director/Conductor: first with the Sternscher Sangverein in Berlin, then with the Liverpool Philharmonic Orchestra. After 3 years in Liverpool, he returned to the continent to become the Director of the Orchesterverein in Breslau, Poland.(the German Name for today's Warsaw).

Next, his career finds him back in Berlin where he took over master classes in composition (Respighi was one of his pupils). In 1911, he retired (still in Berlin) and concentrated on composition until his death on October 2, 1920.

He was a prolific composer, but his work was often overshadowed by his contemporary, Johannes Brahms. The violin concerto performed tonight is his most famous work (even during his life time) and is only one of 3 works still in the standard orchestral literature today.

Allen Wang, age 11, is currently studying violin at the Colburn School, pupil of Joan Kwuon. He began the violin at age 6 and at age 8, Allen became a Colburn School Zipper Scholarship recipient. Young Artists Concert Competition

This is the 34th year of our Young Artists Concert Competition. In 1990, Joseph R. Taylor, who became the orchestra's conductor a year later, revitalized the organization's emphasis on youth by founding the Bellflower Young Artists Concerto Competition, an event which has proven to be extremely successful. The first year saw four finalists that performed their chosen concertos with the orchestra. It has since grown to include contestants from all around California and even a few from out of state. Today, the orchestra gives 8 awards in 3 categories to deserving youth, with five of the top winners performing with the orchestra.

Proudly Dedicates

The Concert for Young Artists 2024

In memory of Marcia Durbin
October 11, 1945 - January 10, 2024

Marcia Durbin's contributions to BSA:

Marcia Durbin joined the Bellflower Symphony Orchestra in the 1980. She joined the BSA board in 1991, and served as Vice President until 2022, when she took on the interim President position, until she resigned in the fall of 2023 due to failing health. During her 30+ years on the board, not only was she Vice President, but she also assisted Jane Bristol with treasury duties, and acted as General Manager and Secretary for the Bellflower Symphony Association.

During her time as VP, she handled and/or assisted with most of the administrative activities including requesting funding, handling the annual young artist competition, and many more activities.

During her 35+ years as an Orchestra Member she played both Violin I & Violin II parts.

She will be deeply missed.

Marcia Durbin's Obituary:

Marcia June Durbin was born in the Inglewood section of Los Angeles to Reverend C. Frederick Kinell, Pastor of Immanuel Baptist Church, and Jean Bachman, musician and Opera singer, and 2 older brothers, Gale and Dale, on October 11, 1945. When she was 2 years old, her father accepted a pastorship at the First Baptist Church of Ottumwa, Iowa, a quaint little church in a farming community. Her mother became choir director and secretary of the church, and remained in these roles for a little over a decade.

When Marcia was 4 years old, her mother began teaching her to play the piano and read music. She began to play the violin in the 3rd grade, which she has continued throughout her life. As a child, her mother would give her the option of washing dishes or practicing her violin. She always chose to practice which left her older brothers to wash the dishes! Her youngest grandson, Tristan, is currently in 3rd grade and has begun playing violin, following in her footsteps.

When Marcia was 8 years old, her father died in a car accident. This was a traumatic experience for her family. Thankfully, FBCO allowed the family to continue living in the church home even though Reverend Kinell was no longer pastor.

When Marcia was 12, her family moved to San Diego, where she and her brothers finished high school. She started college at the University of Redlands and met Harold at the FBC Long Beach her Freshman year. Harold impressed her and loved her and she agreed to marry him. She transferred to Cal State University Long Beach and married Harold on February, 14th. 1965.

Harold moved to Rochester, New York to work for Taylor Instrument Company, and Marcia graduated with a degree in Sociology. Harold returned to Long Beach to help Marcia move to Rochester. With Harold's guidance, Marcia became one of the first female computer programmers, and worked for the Ritter Pfaudler Company. She pointed out some health insurance discrimination against female employees and was surprised by her manager who took this to upper management and the problem was resolved. Many other fortune 500 companies followed suite shortly after, removing the discriminatory policies regarding health insurance, allowing female employees the opportunity to provide health insurance for their families as was already provided for the families of male employees!

Marcia & Harold's first son, HE, was born in 1971. Shortly, thereafter, the young couple returned to the Long Beach area where they started Instrument Personnel. Marcia worked for several years as a programmer until Harry was born in 1977.

In 1974, Marcia and Harold bought their home in Artesia where they have lived for almost 50 years. Hope was born in 1978, Heather in 1982, and Heath in 1985. In 2023, the Durbin(s) passed out Cotton Candy for Halloween for the 49th year, serving between 300-800 people each year. If the tricker treater said a bible verse, they got a giant cotton candy.

Through the years, Marcia has enjoyed playing her violin 🎻 in many orchestras, including Crystal Cathedral, Cypress Pops, Bellflower Symphony, La Mirada Symphony, Whittier Regional Symphony, and various churches.

Three of Marcia's granddaughters had the opportunity to work side by side with her at C.I.T. It's a time that they will always cherish! Grandma continued to work at CIT until she died. She fought hard and lived life till the end! She went out on her own terms, cruising through the Panama Canal with Harold and their oldest and youngest sons, surrounded by love! On the evening of January 9th, modern technology allowed Marcia to FaceTime with all of her children and most of her other family members, including her two siblings, grandchildren and nieces. Marcia went to be with the Lord on January 10th, 2024, and is survived by her Husband, Harold Durbin, two brothers, Gale and Dale, Five kids, and seven grandchildren.

She was thankful for her churches, FBCA (First Baptist Church of Artesia) and NCF/FBCB (Neighbor Christian Fellowship/ First Baptist Church of Bellflower where we had Marcia's celebration of life and 78th b-day party on November 11, 2023.

More importantly, she contributed her own and the Durbin Family's life successes on this earth, to Our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ!
